

Trains in the Snow 2025

By Ely Carter-Williamson

Amtrak's Floridian Passes Through the town of Apex, NC on Thursday February 20,2025.

One of the Piedmont Trains zooms along Hillsborough St on his final stretch to Raleigh after leaving the Cary Amtrak Station .

Apex's resident caboose basks in the cold snow, serving as a reminder to the ever-increasing town's roots as a railroad town where the Seaboard Air Line and the Durham & Southern once met. (2/19/25).

As the snow starts piling in, an NCDOT Piedmont Train passes by the Trinity Rd Crossing outside of Cary (2/19/25).

CSX L620 gets ready to depart Apex after swapping around some cars. ET44AH 3382 and it's older brother ES44AC 876 are the power braving the elements.

Uh Oh, looks like Amtrak's Floridian is having some issues. Apparently, one of the axles on lead ALC-42 340 fouled up. The train was severely late as it is and the trailing P42 had not only had to push the lead engine to a nearby siding, but he had to pull the train all the way to Chicago on its own. On the bright side, the Charger received some love from the mayor of Apex on Facebook and received a week's long vacation relaxing on the Hunter St siding (1/22/25).

CSX ET44AC 3417 pulls out with a pretty short L619 (1/22/25).
